

WME LABOR AND EMPLOYMENT LAW BLOG A BIG HIT WITH HR PROFESSIONALS

Rochester, NY – (June 18, 2007) Nine months ago Windsor Media Enterprises launched an HR employment law blog to provide guidance and information to business owners and HR professionals. Located on the web at www.laborandemploymentlawblog.com, the blog explains in plain English what the federal statutes mean and interprets how each can affect a business or workplace.

“The blog has been a big hit, particularly with HR professions from all size organizations,” says Yvonne DiVita, president of Windsor Media Enterprises. “Currently over 500 readers per week visit the blog to read the latest articles posted. One of the most popular articles was one listing guidelines for how to minimize employer liability.”

Besides new postings each week, the blog contains many links to other employment law or HR blogs and websites that readers might like to connect with. It also lists links for all of the state employment law websites. Readers can access previously written articles on a wide variety of employment-related issues including hiring and firing guidelines, discrimination, medical and military leave and a host of other topics.
